Training Tails – Dogs & Kids

by Laura Garber, CPDT-KA

Though there are many breeds of dogs in the world, there are really only three types of dogs when it comes to children: those who turn inside out with excitement at seeing a child, those who tolerate the presence of children, and those who do not like children. Ideally, dogs living in a home with children are from the first group – the kid-lovers. Though dogs from the other two groups can learn to tolerate or even like the family children, remember that where there's one child, there's bound to be more... that child's playmates. That will be a tall order for a dog who's a bit short on patience for, or worse fearful of, young'uns.

So, when you are searching for a new dog and you have or plan on having kids in the near future, make sure you're looking for a kid-loving dog. If it is a puppy you seek, then it will be your responsibility to socialize that pup to the many different people (including children), dogs and other animals, and life experiences that will be part of his lifescape. Have your pup get plenty of tasty treats from tikes of all ages, and as you do training with your pup, make sure to include kids in

From the Director's Desk

by Cindy Iacopella

Nearly two years ago I came on as Director of the Town of Hempstead Animal Shelter and Adoption Center and it has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. We have grown in leaps and bounds and the team of employees and volunteers that are the heart of our shelter is outstanding. I am in awe of their compassion and their dedication to our mission. It is truly inspiring.

The Pooch Scoop – The Pit Bull Debunked

Pit Bulls are typically very friendly, even with strangers. They love people and thrive on attention and affection. A highly intelligent, energetic breed, they were prized as wonderful family dogs in the past. They once had the moniker of "nanny dog" because of their wonderful demeanor with children.

Know the facts. Fight breed bias!

The animal sheltering industry is a unique one. To say we are a quiet bunch would be laughable, but somehow, in the end, our crew makes it work with grace. Saving homeless animals' lives is a passion for all of us. We know first-hand that the animals of the Town of Hempstead Animal Shelter are the ones at the most risk – the forgotten, the not-so-pretty, the old, the injured, the neglected, the ones no one wants or loves. We are committed to doing all we possibly can to save the lives of these beautiful souls. We love them all; we soothe them with soft voices, bathe their dirty coats, give them nutritious food, play with them, and give them a safe place to rest. We give them a chance! Most of the animals who come into the Town of Hempstead Animal Shelter have never known what love from a human was, never had a faithful human companion. Some have been abused; most have been neglected. But despite all of their horrible experiences, they are loving, forgiving, and faithful to their humans. We have come a long way over the past two years, but there is still a tremendous amount of work to do. I look forward to growing our shelter and implementing life-saving programs for these most vulnerable animals of our community. So I want to take this opportunity to thank all of you. Together we are making a difference!	this process so that your pup learns that kids are as relevant to his life as adults are. In the home, there need to be rules so that everyone will enjoy a safe, peaceful coexistence. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • You should never leave your dog alone with young children, no matter how much you trust your kid-loving dog. Accidents can happen in the blink of an eye. • Your dog should have a designated safe place, like a crate or private room. Children should understand that when the dog goes to this spot, he should be left alone. • Young kids should be respectful of dogs and what they're expressing through body language; educate your child about dog body language and stress signals. • Teach your child how to pet a dog gently. He should not pinch or pull on ears or tails, nor should he grab fistfuls of fur. If you know that your child tends to be rough, teach him on a stuffed dog first before introducing him to a real dog. • Teach your child to wake the sleeping dog by talking to him before touching him. Startling him out of a deep sleep could result in his being defensive. As dogs age, they become less tolerant and more prone to pain- or startle-induced reactions. Have frequent vet check-ups to make sure that your dog is healthy and pain-free. For the complete article, go to www.mywoofgang.com/creature-feature.php The TOH Shelter has dogs we think will enjoy a home with kids.
